Leave Fawns Alone, Game Wardens Ask Island's Motoring Public

By ROY THORSEN
"When you see a fawn by or on the highway, please don't stop and 'rescue' it," game wardens of the lower island appealed to motorists today.

This annual spring appeal was repeated by Game Warden Joseph Jones, of the Government Game Farm opposite Beaver Lake, because a well-meaning, unidentified truck driver Tuesday picked up a five-day-old fawn he thought was an "orphan," then gave it to someone because he was late for work and unable to find time to turn it over to park officials.

"People who do this may not realize it, but they are doing a terrible injustice to the fawns," said Warden Jones today while attempting to feed the still-frightened fawn with milk from a baby's bottle.

He went on to explain that the mothers are always near their fawns and warned that once people have touched the fawns the parents will have nothing more to do with them.

"In regard to this little fellow, he's had such a shock I doubt if he will live," said Mr. Jones.

WARDEN IS NURSEMAID

However, the warden will go through the usual routine of nurse-feeding the baby. If it survives and in a month or so looks as though it can forage for itself, Mr. Jones will release it in a game reserve area.

"It is really unfair to the fawn as he will be going out on his own to face his natural enemies in the bush without the early guidance of its mother," said Mr. Jones. He explained that it was impossible to turn all the fawns over to Beacon Hill Park.

The truck driver in this case stopped off at Jimmy's Snack Bar, 474 Gorge Road, and handed the bleating fawn to Jimmy Horwood. He explained he had intended to turn it over to Beacon Hill Park attendants, but that he did not have time to do that and get to work on schedule. Mr. Horwood called the Superior Street game office.

Abandon Hope For 62 Miners; Death Toll 80

EASINGTON, Eng. (AP)—All hope was abandoned today for 62 British coal miners buried 900 feet below ground Friday by a violent explosion. The toll of the disaster, with the deaths of the 62, would reach 80, including one rescue worker who died in the attempt to save the entombed men.

"Though everything has been done and is still being done at the pit, there is now no hope of any of the entombed miners being alive," said Lord Hundley, chairman of the National Coal Board. "This is the worst pit disaster we have had in the history of the National Coal Board."

Rescue work went on throughout the night, while a small cluster of relatives gathered quietly in the glare of the big spotlight at the pit head. Names of survivors, they were told, would be posted on the bulletin board there—but there were none this morning.

On the board was a message from the King.

"The Queen and I," he said, "have learned with deepest regret of the explosion at Easington colliery and of the severe loss of life. We send out heartfelt sympathy to all those who have lost husbands or sons."

MANHUNT AFTER AIRMEN STAGE HOAX SHOOTING

VANCOUVER (CP)—Disciplinary action has been ordered for four members of an R.C.A.F. color party who staged a hoax shooting here. The stunt caused a seven-hour manhunt last night after witnesses reported that a man in uniform had been shot and spirited away in a truck.

Otto Osterlund told police he saw a man in uniform shot down in the street outside his house in the south end of the city.

Holiday Tourists Here Find Shops Are Closed

Hundreds of Americans here to spend their Memorial Day holiday today were disappointed to find Victoria's shops closed at 1 p.m. for the weekly half holiday. The same thing will happen on July 4, unless action is taken.

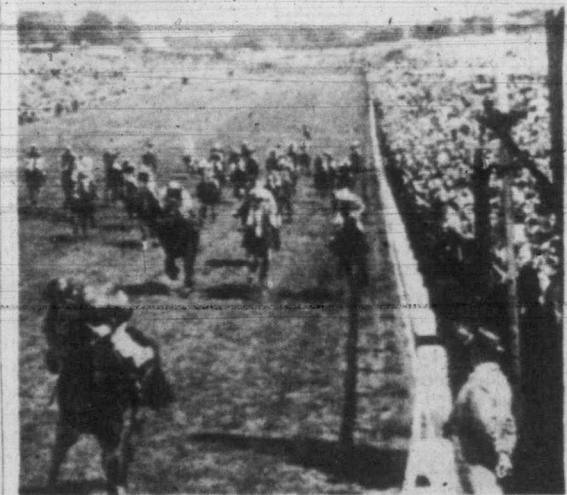

"Something ought to be done about this," said Alan Vizard of Victoria Gift House. "I am opposed to early Wednesday closing at any time during the tourist season, and doubly so when Wednesday happens to be a U.S. holiday."

centres like Banff and Jasper, closing down in early afternoon during the tourist season, and the sooner Victoria realizes it is just a massive tourist resort and acts accordingly the better."

"It is all wrong bringing tourists to Victoria and then letting them find out they cannot shop because it is the weekly half holiday," said Hudson Blake, of B.C. Craft House. "Memorial Day is perhaps not so important, but I think we should make a determined effort to be allowed to keep open on July 4."

Arctic Prince breezes in Derby

Leading by six lengths at the finish line, Arctic Prince a 33 to 1 shot today won the 172nd Derby at Epsom Downs. Following him, left to right, are Sybil's Newphew, second; Signal Box, third, and Le Tyrol, fourth. No Canadian had winning Irish sweepstakes tickets on the winner or runner-up but John Murphy, Montreal, won close to $60,000 with ticket on second-place horse, Shirley S. Slim, Ottawa, and H. Meadows, Montreal, each won $29,000 with tickets on show horse. These Trepanier, Three Rivers, Que., won $34,500 with ticket on winner in Army and Navy sweep. B.C. holders were only "small-time" winners in the Irish lottery. (AP Radio Photo)

KING CANCELS IRISH VISIT; QUEEN TO GO

LONDON (Reuters)—The King today decided not to make his planned week-end trip to Northern Ireland. Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret will carry out the program—arranged for the visit.

The King has been confined to his room at Buckingham Palace with a mild attack of influenza. Today he missed the 172nd running of the Derby at Epsom.

The tight security measures imposed by the Northern Ireland police following recent republican extremist activities will be maintained.

Meanwhile Scotland Yard was taking special precautions at Buckingham Palace after receipt of anonymous telephone calls that six Irishmen plan to invade the King's residence.

B.C. Students Will Receive Defence Training

First Aid Lessons Are Being Planned

All public school children in the province are to be given elementary courses in first aid as part of the B.C. civil defence program. It was announced today following a meeting of the provincial advisory committee on civil defence.

It was learned at the same time that a provincial school for the training of civil defence personnel will be opened here in the fall—possibly in October.

Plans discussed at the advisory committee meeting included also discussions with officials of Washington State for mutual aid.

Next week Deputy Provincial Secretary R. A. Pennington will meet with Washington State officials at Olympia to consider plans for mutual aid and for coordinating the civil defence program in the Pacific northwest.

Maj. Gen. C. R. S. Stein, provincial co-ordinator, will go to Washington, D.C., for a session on defence starting June 18.

Co-ordinators in Victoria and Vancouver, L. G. Hatcher and Air Vice-Marshal F. Y. Heakes, have been authorized to discuss mutual problems with authorities in neighboring Washington cities.

The discussions will be informal, it is explained, as any agreements must be made at the national level. Provincial and municipal officials can recommend only to Ottawa the basis of such agreements with U.S. organizations.

The first aid program in the schools is being prepared by the Provincial Health Department. Courses will be inaugurated next fall and will be graded according to the age of the child and will be keyed directly to the knowledge needed in the event of attack.

Also in connection with the schools, posters and instructions on drills and precautions will be sent to all principals this week, and an educational program will be started to give parents confidence their youngsters will be well cared for.

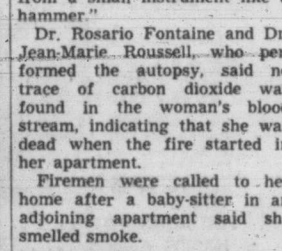

Murdered Woman Found In Blaze

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today that 23-year-old Mrs. Roland Genest was murdered in her east-end apartment last night. Her charred body was found on a blazing mattress by firemen.

Lieut. Russell Senecal of the homicide squad said that an autopsy revealed the woman died of multiple skull fractures, "probably inflicted by blows from a small instrument like a hammer."

Dr. Rosario Fontaine and Dr. Jean-Marie Roussel, who performed the autopsy, said no trace of carbon dioxide was found in the woman's blood stream, indicating that she was dead when the fire started in her apartment.

Firemen were called to her home after a baby-sitter in an adjoining apartment said she smelled smoke.

OL' VIC SAYS:

See where th' civil servants are complainin' their wages don't keep up with risin' prices. Proves what I've allus said, at heart civil servants are just like us people.

Another partial cure fer that smoke nuisance would be to have the prevailin' wind blow from th' north.

Major Defeat For Reds In Korea, Says Ridway

By WILLIAM JORDEN
TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridway said today Allied troops had inflicted a "major, severe defeat" on the Chinese and North Korean armies.

The Supreme Commander, back from a two-day trip to the war front, said United Nations troops had captured 10,000 Red soldiers since the Communists opened their first spring offensive April 22.

He praised the gallant United States 2nd Division with attached French and Dutch units for its gallant stand in East-Central Korea which turned the main Communist blow.

Ridway warned that the Reds have the power to strike again, but he expressed confidence that his U.N. troops again could stop them.

The Supreme Commander grimly told reporters there is no reason to believe the war is near an end.

Only a change of policy on the highest Communist levels in Moscow or Peking, he said, can stop the bloodshed.

Ridway said—Communist morale was breaking under the tremendous Allied fire superiority, the staggering losses suffered by the Reds, and the growing, severe shortage of food in Communist-held areas.

"We have learned from prisoner-of-war reports that desperation has become a definite and serious problem for the Communists, well back into their rear areas."

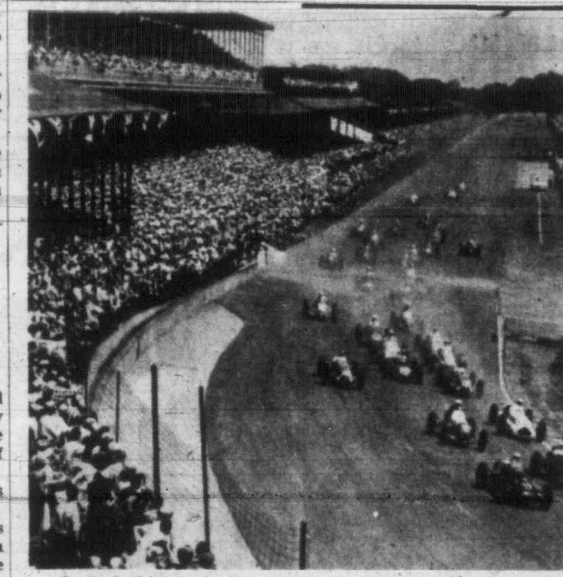

"There must be a growing question in the minds of the Chinese forces as to the beneficence of their leaders' motives."

The Communists still could hurl into the war five Chinese armies "whose exact strength we do not know," Ridway said.

CANADIAN TARS CAPTURE RED JUNKS IN FOG

WITH THE CANADIAN DESTROYERS IN THE FAR EAST (CP)—In a night operation, the Canadian destroyer Nootka captured seven small North Korean vessels which were attempting to run the United Nations blockade.

The action took place recently off the west coast of Korea on a night when heavy fog covered the enemy fleet—made up of junks and sampans. However, the destroyer's radar detected them, and a specially-equipped boat was put over the side, with Lieut. Anthony Slater of Victoria in charge and P.O. Edward Randall of Halifax as coxswain.

Out of this pack, Lee Wallard emerged victorious.

Wallard Breaks Record To Win Race Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Lee Wallard, a 40-year-old speed demon from Altamont, N.Y., today captured the speediest 500-mile auto race in history in his fourth start in the annual Indianapolis event.

The record-smashing pace left only eight cars on the track at the finish. Thirty-three started.

His speed average for the entire distance was 126.244, far surpassing the 121.327 speed record with which Bill Holland won in 1949.

Wallard, who qualified for the $200,000-plus event on the first day of trials to gain the middle position in the front row of starters, never was far off the pace.

Second to the New York speed demon was rookie Mike Nazaruk, East Meadow, Long Island. But he was a good two loops behind the rambling winner.

Third went to Jack McGrath, though he had relief driver Manuel Ayulo in the car at the finish. Bob Ball, another rookie from Phoenix, Ariz., was fourth.

Henry Banks, Compton, Calif., took fifth.

It was a grueling race. The total of eight starting cars which managed to hang together for the finish was an all-time low in the 35-year history of the event.

New British Timber Order

VANCOUVER (Special)—B.C. Lumber exporters have negotiated a new $50,000,000 contract with the British timber control. Although details are not available it is indicated the order is for about 50,000,000 feet per month during the last half of 1951 and the first half of 1952.

Order will absorb about 25 per cent of the estimated production of the coast mills for the next 10 to 12 months.

Owing to increased costs of production and new methods of parceling the price is slightly higher than last year's contracts but still under the ruling world price.

Blair Crosses Lake Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Charles Blair, flying a converted Mustang fighter plane non-stop from Fairbanks, Alaska, to New York flashed across Lake Winnipeg at 12,14 today, more than half way towards his goal.

A dispatcher of Pan-American Airways in Seattle estimated that Blair would take nine hours 25 minutes to make the hop of 3,296 air miles. That would get him to New York at 3:34 C.D.T.

Allied Advance Slowing

TOKYO (AP)—Heavy rains and determined Reds fighting from water-filled dugouts today slowed Allied spearheads in Communist Korea.

On the central front, an Eastern Canadian battalion captured a hill from a Red battalion Tuesday night only to lose it to a Red counter-attack at dawn. The battle still was under way Wednesday night.

Canadian troops reported they fought under the heaviest Chinese artillery barrage since the allied counter-offensive opened. But the allies did grind out some gains.

Field dispatches reported United Nations troops had fought to within 12 miles of Kumsu, Communist base in Central Korea, and seized another crossroad above Inje on the East-Central Front.

Heavy rains swept most of the battlefield today, ushering in Korea's rainy season. Zero visibility cut allied air attacks to 126 sorties.

Red troops, seizing the weather advantage, lashed back at U.N. supply lines on the East-Central front. A Communist attack cut South Korean defences on the Inje-Hyon Road. Reds set up road blocks both sides of Inje, covering mined roads with bazooka and machine-gun fire.

An American armored force fought through heavy fire and thick mud before seizing a strategic road junction six miles northeast of Inje. The seizure represented a 1½-mile gain for the day.

Red resistance mounted steadily. The Communists apparently were determined to make United Nations forces pay heavily for any further advance into North Korea. AP correspondent Stan Carter reported from Eighth Army headquarters.

U.N. troops had lunged 26 miles north of the 38th Parallel border, cutting all motor escape routes from South Korea. But field dispatches said apparently most Reds already had escaped—or died trying to get out.

Despite the stiffening fight north of 38, there was growing evidence of widespread discontent in Communist ranks.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridway said 10,000 Reds have been captured since they began their ill-fated spring offensives April 22.

Rain-drenched U.N. troops had driven the Reds back to the starting point of their first spring offensive.

Field dispatches reported Communist forces apparently reached a holding stage as allies threatened their staging bases in the Chongwon-Kumsu-Hwachon triangle.

Big Irish Vote Expected

DUBLIN (AP)—Irish voters choose today between Prime Minister John A. Costello's Coalition regime and the single-party government offered by 68-year-old Eamon De Valera, trying for a political comeback.

More than 1,000,000 ballots are expected to be cast as the New York-born De Valera strives to regain the premiership he held for 16 years—until his Fianna Fail party lost control of the Dail (Parliament) in 1948.

Main issue of the election: Should the Republic of Ireland have multi-party or single-faction government?

U.N. troops had lunged 26 miles north of the 38th Parallel border, cutting all motor escape routes from South Korea. But field dispatches said apparently most Reds already had escaped—or died trying to get out.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

TRIAL BY TELEVISION

LONDON—After having expressed, on more than one occasion in these columns, my somewhat old-fashioned antipathy towards television, it looked rather as if Nemesis had caught up with me a few days ago. For I have been televised. And if what appeared on the screen was half as entertaining an experience to the allegedly 12,000,000 members of my unseen audience as it was to me, then it was well worth while.

A few days after my broadcast over the BBC Festival program, to which I alluded in an earlier column, I was approached by its television division for my consent to an interview by Miss Joan Gilbert, its quite famous interviewer.

TRY ANYTHING ONCE

ON THE principle that I am willing to try anything once, I consented to do so. And after a very charming young man had come down to get something of my background and sound me out, so to speak, I was invited to present myself at the special BBC studio at the Festival of Britain site on the south side of the Thames.

As I was given to understand that I should be asked, among other things, to give my impressions of the Festival, which we had not then seen, we went along several hours earlier to get a glimpse of that great exhibition and fair. That, in itself, was an undertaking, of which I shall tell more in a later column.

FELLOW VICTIMS

SEVERAL hours—and two pairs of very sore feet—later, we arrived at the studio where I learned that I was to share the 15-minute television interview with two other visitors from the far ends of the earth. By a strange coincidence, it happened that they were also journalists—although I was introduced in my role as Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature.

One was Sir Eli Muhammad Rashid, editor of the Sind Observer and president of the Newspaper Editors' Association of Pakistan; the other was A. Gordon Bagnall, of the Cape Times and also a weekly commentator on international affairs with the South African Broadcasting Commission.

'PLUG' FOR B.C.

THE PROGRAM was in the nature of an informal forum, led by Miss Gilbert, the three of us exchanging views on our respective parts of the world, as well as our impressions of the Festival and of Britain generally.

Needless to say, I managed to put in a "plug" for British Columbia—despite the non-advertising limitations of the BBC, and evidently did it to good effect, for before I left the studio a number of calls had been received from members of my unseen audience who wanted to know how to get out to B.C.

UNDER A MICROSCOPE

BUT IT WAS the preliminaries that amused me. With our entrepreneur, we entered a tiny studio which was literally bristling with cannon-like looking cameras, lights, and whatnot, and brimming with technicians and spectators. The Indian, the South African and I were directed to three rather spectacular chairs which had originally made their debut at the Great Exhibition of 1851 to the Crystal Palace, I being allotted an imposing armchair made for Queen Victoria.

Then came a microscopic examination of us through a formidable-looking camera mounted with three or four telescopic lenses. I was told that the cameraman's curiosity was merely to establish whether I was "telegenic."

After a few moments, during which I fluctuated between feeling like a noxious germ under a microscope and wondering whether the shock of seeing me had been too much for both camera and cameraman, he finally emerged and said that with special make-up I should be an excellent subject.

TROPICAL TAN

SO OFF I went to the make-up studio, where moist "goo" of a deep tan shade was vigorously rubbed in, things done to my eyelids, eyelashes—with which Nature has not been very generous in my case—ears and neck. When I finally came up for air—and a look—I gasped. I was as near looking like an elderly Hawaiian as I shall ever look. Given a hibiscus behind my ear, it would have completed the slightly over-mature tropical look!

As you may imagine, I not only felt somewhat like an old sheep dressed up in lamb fashion, but my sense of humor came to the surface. However, I was assured later on, not only by the director of the program and Miss Gilbert but by many of those who witnessed the televised program, that nothing of this was visible in my performance. So I came away feeling that perhaps, after all, Victoria in particular and British Columbia in general had no reason to blush for me.

Buccaneer III Hope For Victoria Win

Victoria's hopes for a winner in the annual Swiftsure Lightship sailing race will rest with H. A. Wallace's sloop Buccaneer II when the annual big event gets under way Thursday morning, at 11.

The Buccaneer will be the only local entry among the dozen or so craft which will compete in this year's 155-mile open-water race. The competing vessels began converging on Victoria today for the race.

This year's race will mark the first time in the 20-year history of the Swiftsure that the event has started and finished at this port.

The course of the race will be from Brothie Ledge, just off the breakwater, out the Strait of Juan de Fuca, around the Swiftsure Lightship anchored some 20 miles in the ocean off Cape Flattery, then back to the starting point.

Last year's winning sailboat, Gossip, owned by Phil Smith of Seattle, is not entered.

Several Seattle boats are rated as possible favorites, including Carl Jensen's Amorita, Charlie Frieb's Alotola, Herb Day's Ono, Dr. Chris Goodhope's Serada and George Parson's Red Jacket. The boats are expected to reach the finish line Saturday morning.

WEDNESDAY CLOSING

"We would like to remain open many Wednesday afternoons," said Alan Wilson, of W. & J. Wilson. "We shall certainly support any move that is made to allow shops to remain open on July 4."

Kelly Porter of Indian Craft Shop said that it was "ridiculous" inviting tourists to Victoria and then closing the shops on them. "I feel that shops who cater for tourists should be given the right to remain open if they want to do so," he declared.

Another shop operator thought that the steamship companies should warn tourists before they leave the other side that shops close in Victoria on Wednesday.

R. J. Burland, passenger agent of Canadian Pacific Railway, took the other view.

"It is not for us to advise Americans about half holidays in Victoria," he said. "I am not convinced in the first place that many of them come to Victoria to go shopping in any case. Besides most of them know the conditions here."

Referring to today's situation when the early closing coincided with the American holiday, Mr. Burland commented crisply, "well, there are probably many American husbands who are saying, 'thank God, this holiday isn't going to be so expensive as we feared.'"

COME TO SEE SIGHTS

"Give the Americans credit for a little sense," continued the C.P.R. man. "Lots of them come here for a holiday and to see the sights. They don't have to come to Victoria just to go on a shopping spree."

The semi-official view as expressed by G. A. A. Hebdon as chairman of the Retail Merchants Group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce is that while staggering the weekly holiday or obviating the early closing of shops during the tourist season had much to commend it, a change is extremely difficult.

LAW "INFLEXIBLE"

"We have discussed the matter," said Mr. Hebdon, "and our information is that the Victoria by-law which compels Wednesday closing is absolutely inflexible. There can be no deviation."

"The people of Victoria chose Wednesday for their half holiday," he went on. "I am informed that it would take many months and considerable legislation to bring about an alteration."

Asked to comment on the possibility that some firms might defy the law and take the chance of a fine by remaining open today and on July 4 because of the special U.S. holiday significance, Mr. Hebdon said:

"Any shop that stays open is technically in breach of the law. In a civilization such as ours the law must be respected. I think it would be entirely wrong to defy the law, no matter how strongly the individual may feel about it."

Truck Strike Holding Up British Food Deliveries

13,335 Quit Job In Protest At 'Gestapo' Road Patrols Planned To Ensure Efficiency

LONDON (Reuters)—More truck drivers joined the three-day strike of Britain's state-owned road haulers today. Deliveries of essential goods and food were being held up all over the country.

Famed Flower Baskets Will Be Hung Soon

Victoria's far-famed flower baskets—550 in number—will be hung from the lamp standards June 11, the city parks department said today.

Workmen will begin the task Sunday midnight, June 10, when curbstones are free of parked cars and roadways clear.

The popular tourist attractions are usually up by June 6 or 7, for the King's Birthday, but this year it is being celebrated June 4.

"We usually get a bad storm or at least very bad winds, around the week-end of June 2 and avoid putting the baskets upon or near that date," said one parks department official.

PRAGUE (Reuters)—Czech composer Josef Suk's funeral, 92, died Tuesday night at Stara Boleslav, Bohemia. It was announced today by the official Czech news agency.

Forster, a professor at the Prague Conservatory, was holder of the title "national artist of Czechoslovakia."

The number of drivers to join the protest against "Gestapo" road patrols went up from 12,000 Tuesday to 13,335 today. Altogether 241 depots were affected. Labor Minister Alfred Robens will meet representatives of the Transport Union and the road haulage executive, the industry's directing board, today in an effort to halt the strike.

New recruits to the walk-out were the truck drivers bringing supplies to London's Billingsgate fish market, threatening a fish shortage by Friday.

Porters at the capital's fruit and vegetable markets are reported to be refusing to unload state-owned vehicles out of sympathy for the truck drivers.

Strikers today decided to continue the dispute until further guidance from the strike committee.

The strike began at midnight Sunday in protest against the road patrols, which are to ensure efficiency.

GOVT. FRESH OUT OF CASH

OTTAWA (BUP)—The government reported today it was running out of pocket money and asked Parliament to vote it enough to carry on for another month until final appropriations can be passed.

The new fiscal year, in which the government expects to spend up to $3,700,000,000, opened April 1. The Commons advanced the administration enough money to run the country for two months, pending final approval of the appropriations.

Trained Crews Of Enumerators Open Gigantic Census-Taking Job Friday

When close to 175 men and women start a door-to-door trek from Victoria to Nanaimo Friday in the taking of the 1951 census they'll be counting more than noses.

Each will be armed with a sheaf of documents covering the population generally, the deaf and blind, housing, agriculture, irrigation among other things, and they'll be asking some mighty personal questions.

All is in readiness for the fray which is expected to be completed within three weeks in the urban areas and four weeks in the farm districts and isolated territories.

There are something like 75 enumerators for the Victoria federal riding which takes in the city and Oak Bay, and close to 100 for the Nanaimo, Esquimalt and Cowichan-Newcastle ridings which cover the remainder of Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands from Nanaimo south.

Each has been specially chosen for the census, has had to pass an I.Q. test, and has taken four days' training.

In charge of the two groups are Arthur Burns, Victoria-Oak Bay, and William E. Poupore, the outer, more rural sections.

They have been busy the last two months organizing the taking of the census here.

Theirs has been a difficult job.

'Safety' Fence Around Reservoir

Construction of a fence around Rithet Hill reservoir for the safety of children who might trespass is underway. Reeve Joseph W. Casey of Saanich said today.

"The fence is an absolute must," Reeve Casey said at the last meeting of the public works committee.

Funds for the barrier, to cost about $1,500, will come from the $2,200 still remaining in the reservoir estimates of $386,314.55.

Present Bridge Plans

Plans for the proposed new Point Ellice Bridge were presented to a meeting of public works committee Tuesday afternoon.

Plans were drawn by Maj. J. R. Grant. Cost of the bridge is believed to be in the neighborhood of $500,000 to $600,000.

but they now have an efficient crew of enumerators sworn to secrecy and "rarin' to go."

THE QUESTIONS

Now for some of those questions you are going to be asked:

There's the usual name and address, relationship to the head of the household, sex, age, education and religion.

Then come such things as citizenship ("Are you a citizen of Russia?") and racial origin.

The enumerator will ask details about your job and will want to know "What did you do mostly during the week ending June 2, 1951?" "Did you do any work for pay or profit?" and "How many hours did you work?"

They'll want to know what class of worker you are, and finally will ask perhaps the toughest questions of all:

"How many weeks did you work for wages and salary during the last 12 months?" and "What were your wage and salary earnings during the 12 months prior to June 1?"

Although assurance comes from officialdom that information obtained in the census cannot and will not be used by any department of government, and will not be made available to your neighbor, trouble is anticipated from some quarters over the salary question particularly.

"People may not want to give the answers to some questions, perhaps for income tax reasons, but this is not a check for the finance offices," said one official.

"The census is conducted to compile totals in the various brackets on the question card and not for individual records." In addition to obtaining information about the members of the household, the enumerators will take every fifth home and farm visited as a "sample" home and take many particulars on such things as construction, method of heating, ownership, furnishings and equipment.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beasall

Many inquiries for further information on the growing and use of the various culinary herbs have been received during the past two weeks.

Kitchen herbs may be divided into three groups as far as cultivation is concerned. There are the perennial plants which are hardy in this climate, the hardier annuals, and the tender annuals, both of which are grown from seed.

I am working on a new herb garden and have most of the perennials in place. These include rosemary, lavender, sage, mint, thyme, chives, and lemon balm, and I am already able to gather fresh tips or leaves to use in salads, soups, and other dishes. Must confess, however, to not having experimented with lavender as yet, although the leaves may be used for seasoning the same as any of the other herbs.

The hardier annuals are ready to be planted out now, and these include dill, anise, summer savory, sweet marjoram and borage. To make the plants more bushy and provide a greater amount of cutting material, the growing tips are pinched out (except dill), and this may be done as the various kinds are needed as tasty appetizers for your dishes.

The tender annuals still have the protection of a cold-frame, and will remain until June, or at least until the nights are warmer, before being planted out. Sweet basil and chervil are the only ones I have at present in this group.

Tarragon, although a perennial, has proved tender in my garden, and is dug each fall, wintered in the greenhouse, and planted out with the tender group.

Borage is little used or known here. Apart from its attractive blue flowers, the greyish leaves have a mild cucumber flavor, and may be safely used by folks unable to enjoy real cucumbers.

Banana oil is not made of bananas or any other fruit. It is one of the hundreds of by-products of coal tar.

Anscomb Says Hospital Insurance Socialism

Hospital insurance is showing the people of B.C. in a minor way what Socialism would cost them if they elected a C.C.F. government, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said Tuesday night.

Addressing the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association at St. Paul's Garrison Church hall, the provincial Tory leader repeated the opinion he expressed during the last session of the Legislature that the new charges for hospital insurance won't balance the budget of the service.

"I'm convinced of that," he stated. He suggested some other course will have to be taken to place the scheme on a sound financial footing.

Mr. Anscomb defended the service, nevertheless, saying the B.C. scheme, unlike the Saskatchewan insurance plan, provided everything for people admitted to hospital.

The finance minister and co-leader of the Coalition government said the people should know how much they were paying for the services given, and that was one reason he opposed an increase in the 3 per cent sales tax to cover deficits.

"They should know what Socialism costs—that's what hospital insurance is. And if they want more of this kind of thing they can get it from the C.C.F.," Mr. Anscomb said.

He criticized the C.C.F. for advocating in a pamphlet being distributed in connection with the coming Esquimalt by-election payment of H.L.S. deficits from increased taxation on the mining and timber industries.

ANSOMB

Open Rift

Verbal bullets shot here Tuesday night in direction of Federal Conservative leader George Drew got supporting thrust from provincial Tory chief, Herbert Anscomb, who said: "Our party should have dynamic, direct force."

P-C Party Revolt Against Drew Seen

Anscomb Aligns Himself With Criticism Of Federal Leader

What may be the start of an open revolt within the Progressive Conservative Party against George Drew as national leader was seen here Tuesday night.

Brewing dissatisfaction among rank and file members of the party over policies and actions taken by their federal leader boiled over at a meeting of the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association.

And B.C. leader, Herbert Anscomb who was speaker at the special meeting, aligned himself with the criticism voiced.

The meeting at the Esquimalt hall of St. Paul's Garrison Church was attended by more than 100 members of Conservative groups of the district including branch associations from as far away as Sooke and Sidney.

Prior to the introduction of Mr. Anscomb, A. De B. McPhillips, first vice-president and chairman in the absence of Denis Hagar, president, spoke bluntly against federal party policies.

Although Mr. Anscomb said in his opening remarks he did not wish to discuss federal matters, he told the meeting he "agreed entirely" with Mr. McPhillips when he said the Conservative Party needed "a dynamic and direct force—a new approach so that the people know what we stand for."

The provincial leader who has been at odds with Drew on several occasions over internal questions, added:

"We've been shilly shallying around and it is time we stopped digressing from the real policies of our party," Mr. McPhillips said.

In an hour-long review of provincial policies, Mr. Anscomb told a story similar to that given by Premier Byron Johnson in a radio address the night before.

Vacillating Policy Scored

"No party ever got anywhere vacillating all over the place," Mr. McPhillips, local barrister, who recently returned to practice law in Victoria from Vancouver, had stated the Conservative Party federally had lost the militant force for which it was noted in the past.

"In the old days we weren't looked upon as a 'middle of the road' party," the chairman declared.

Since the defeat of Bennett in 1935 the party had had four national leaders and "we've not got anywhere."

"We've been shilly shallying around and it is time we stopped digressing from the real policies of our party," Mr. McPhillips said.

In an hour-long review of provincial policies, Mr. Anscomb told a story similar to that given by Premier Byron Johnson in a radio address the night before.

and instruction on the question."

Mr. Anscomb did say he did not think it would be good policy for voters to "plump"—make only one choice in balloting. The two free enterprise parties had to beat socialism (the C.C.F.) and he advised: "Vote Conservatives first and Liberals second."

Like the Liberal leader in B.C.'s Coalition administration, the Tory chief reiterated the "union" government in this province will not be broken until the next general election.

Dissolution of Coalition would come about jointly by Conservatives and Liberals through proclamation of the single transferable vote legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature, Mr. Anscomb said.

The Coalition co-leader said the new system of voting would not be used in the Esquimalt by-election scheduled this fall.

He then gave an idea of how the single transferable vote system of balloting operates, and joked: "I don't know how many of you understand it but I don't. There's got to be a lot of education."

Reds Free Danish Ship

ROENNE, Denmark (Reuters).—The Danish fishing trawler Anna Mona arrived here today after being detained by the Russians in the Baltic for 17 days.

The crew of four said their ship was challenged by a destroyer and taken to a Russian harbor. A guard of six men put aboard.

The Danes were later fined 150 kroner ($20) for fishing in what the Russians claimed were territorial waters. They also had to pay 700 kroner ($88) for food while under detention. The trawler's crew claimed they were at least 35 miles off Soviet-controlled territory.

ISLAND M.P. COMPLAINS

Says Navy Passing Up Lessons About Arctic

OTTAWA (CP)—A Pacific coast Member of Parliament suggested Tuesday the navy is missing a good chance to learn lessons about Canada's Arctic Ocean.

J. L. Gibson (Ind., Comox-Alberni) asked defence officials in the public accounts committee whether the forces do as much as possible for themselves. He cited the case of a private individual who made "a lot of money" by buying a wartime landing craft in the United States and shipping diesel oil to defence outposts up north. "The navy," he suggested, "could have learned a lot in taking that oil into the Arctic itself."

The reply of C. M. Drury, deputy defence minister, was that "in so far as it is economical and serves our training needs, the forces endeavor to do all they can for themselves."

The navy's training was mainly devoted to anti-submarine warfare and Arctic supply would not fit into that training. In such cases, it was not the practice to use men and ships to do jobs that private firms could do.

Increase In Press Postal Rates Hit

Threat To Freedom Seen By Drew; Government Says Move Justified

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was accused in the Commons Tuesday of proposing, either by design or oversight, to curtail the dissemination of news and the freedom of the press by increasing postage rates on newspapers.

The charge was made as Progressive Conservatives opened an attack on a new and revised Postal Act which proposes, among other things, to boost the mailing charges for newspapers and periodicals by almost 100 per cent.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said nothing should be done to limit the circulation of newspapers at a time when democracy is threatened, and urged the government to withdraw the legislation pending further study.

Joseph Noseworthy (C.C.F., York South, Ont.), bespoke

C.C.F. approval of the projected increase and said he thought the people would support increases which would bring newspapers and periodicals "closer to a point of paying their own way."

Postmaster General Rinfret, piloting the legislation, said the rates are not taxes, but fees charged for rendering a service. The Post Office had to increase rates to meet higher costs but, even with the new rates, it still would be carrying papers and periodicals at a loss.

The bill later was given second reading, indicating approval of the principle.

$2,000,000 More Revenue

Mr. Rinfret reported that the handling of newspapers and periodicals cost the department $15,816,015 in the 1950-51 fiscal year, compared with a postage return of $3,995,963, leaving a deficit of nearly $12,000,000. The increase would bring in another $2,000,000 in revenue.

He said the department would be able to reduce the letter rate for all parts of Canada to three cents from four if it collected enough to cover the deficit on newspapers and periodicals. Gordon Graydon (P.C., Peel, Ont.), urging the government to leave the rates unchanged for the time being, suggested the overburdening of those distributing news would be a retrograde step.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre), said he wondered whether the freedom of the press really would be curtailed by the "slight" increase being proposed.

Mr. Drew gave these examples of the effect the new rates will have on newspapers:

A newspaper with a circulation of 10,000 or more, averaging 45 pages each publication day, now pays a postal rate of $3 a year on each copy. The new rate will bring this up to $7.64. A paper with a 24-page average will find its rate boosted to $4.19 from $1.56.

A newspaper with a circulation of under 10,000, averaging 12 pages each publishing day, now pays 93 cents and will pay $1.34.

The new regulations, he noted, will abolish an existing surcharge levied on newspapers carrying more than 50 per cent advertising in an edition. This would remove the incentive to retain at least 50 per cent of space for news columns.

Mr. Drew suggested that the freedom of the press is relatively ineffective unless there is freedom of distribution. The rates would discriminate against newspapers at a time when they were more important to the people than ever before.

Psychological Hazards Viewed

Psychological hazards of various occupations were outlined at the Victoria Gyro Club luncheon Monday by Dr. J. M. Ewing, Victoria college principal.

He said doctors tend to become arbitrary because of their tremendous power over life and death; lawyers tend to become cynical because they see so much of the worst side of life; teachers tend to consider themselves as the only people who know anything while ministers tend to become abstract individuals because they must listen politely to worriers and bores.

Business men, he continued, forget how to relax and workingmen are still likely to give in to the historical sense of inferiority, he said.

OUTSIDER ARCTIC PRINCE CAPTURES EPSOM DERBY

EPSOM, England (AP)—Arctic Prince, a 28-1 outsider, sped to a six-length victory today in the 172nd and richest running of the famed Epsom Derby.

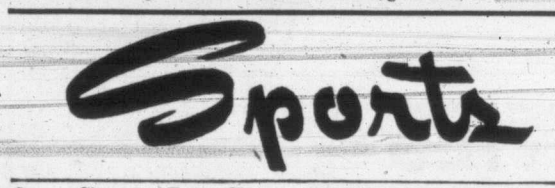

Second place went to Lord Milford's Sybil's Nephew by a head in a photo finish, with Signal Box, owned by Frank Dennis, third.

Ki Ming, winner of the Two-Thousand Guineas classic earlier this month, started as the 9-1 favorite, but finished out of the money.

Fourth place was taken by Le Tyrol, owned by an American, Ralph Strassburger, now residing in France.

A field of 33 horses started the 1½-mile race, and the winner, owned by Joe McGrath, received a purse of $54,561.

Sybil's Nephew closed at 50 to 1 and Signal Box, 20 to 1.

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

Saturday, May 26, 1951, will go down in Canadian racing history as the day on which Major Factor and Alfie Bayington went for a very long ride around The Woodbine. And Alfie will be able to tell his grandchildren how, when they boosted him atop The Major, he thought he was going out for a pleasant afternoon's airing. But The Major went a'running about half a mile from home and the first thing you know, Alfie and The Major were having their pictures taken by so many photographers that they got a suntan from the flash-bulbs.

When Alfie walked into the paddock about 3:30 on Saturday afternoon, The Major sneered at him and Alfie sneered right back. Trainer Pete McCann, who had taught Alfie how to ride, instructed Alfie to "bring 'im back alive" and went on to the more important job of looking after The Major's stablemate, a hussy named Britannia.

So, Alfie and The Major went out on the track and the band was playing and no one gave The Major so much as a second look. They shuffled into Stall Number Two in the big starting gate, right next to Libertine, the favorite. Libertine sneered at The Major and The Major lowered his eyes and blushed slightly.

Those Blondes Again!

When the gaudy swung open, Alfie out-broke the horse and had to go back for him. "C'mon, pardner," said Alfie as he tied himself back on. "The tractor is going to pull this here starting gate into the infield and we'll look pretty silly in the infield."

And it was just as well that The Major came out of there in low gear because the horses were banging together in front of him and it was no place for you unless you were wearing your heavy goal-pads. Alfie adjusted his cap and waved to a couple of blondes in the infield and then The Major started picking 'em up and putting 'em down but not at a very fast clip. As they went past the clubhouse, Alfie waved at Eddie Taylor, The Major's owner, and Mr. Taylor frowned and pointed to show the way that the rest of the field had gone.

Far away in the distance, Alfie could see a cloud of dust and he realized that the other horses must be in front of the dust. "After them, Bucephalus," he commanded and he gave The Major a very severe kick in the slats.

Major Took The High Road

"Pursue them relentlessly," yelled Alfie, but he was chuckling to himself, because he couldn't have reached the flying leaders with a bullet from a 303 rifle. They ambled down the backstretch and Alfie's arms were sore from keeping The Major's chin off the ground. "Listen, you crumb," he snapped in The Major's ear, "I've carried you this far—now you carry me the rest of the way."

So, Alfie started looking out at the lake because it was a nice, hot day and he thought that he would like to be swimming. Suddenly the trees were passing him more swiftly and he noticed that a couple of horses had passed him; going backwards. "This must be some mistake," he mused, "maybe we fell right back into the next race."

But he recognized a couple of more steeds that passed him, in reverse, and he perceived that, indeed, these were his rivals in The King's Plate.

Then, The Major was moving like a big locomotive and Alfie sat on his back, laughing and yelling and whistling warnings at all the level-crossings. "We'll just go home by way of North Toronto," yelled Alfie happily as he steered The Major around the final bend and took the overland route.

Pegasus, Egad!

It was quite a picture—Alfie crouching there, kicking and shoving and swearing and, maybe, praying a little while The Major covered the ground in great flying leaps as he passed horse after horse. "Come on, baby," pleaded Alfie but The Major needed no urging now and he was snorting and chewing on air and his eyeballs were rolling in his head because he could still see a couple of horses ahead of him.

They came thundering home together and, although they had started late, they finished early. They thundered past the finishing-line and the crowd was cheering and looking at their programs to see what horse had just dropped in from Mars.

The Major pulled himself up as he coasted around the turn and then he paused for a deep breath, looked up at Alfie and said: "Well, what the hell do you think of THAT?"

And that, kiddies, is how Alfie and The Major won the 92nd running of The King's Plate.

Junior Ball League In Season's Debut Sunday

Next Sunday will see the opening of the newly-formed 18-and-under Victoria Baseball Association.

At a meeting of team managers Monday night Jack Kersey was elected president of the league for the season. Five teams have been admitted to the league. They are Victoria Combines, George Farmers, Oak Bay Oaks, Sidney and Druggists.

Kersey announced that entries from other teams will be welcomed up to the dead-line of June 2. It is also hoped that a 16-and-under league will be formed.

Anyone requiring information is asked to contact Kersey at Garden 3922 or Garden 2976 in the evening.

Next week's schedule follows: Sunday, 2—Combines vs. George Farmers at Beacon Hill; Oak Bay vs. Sidney at Sidney.

Tuesday, 6—Druggists vs. Combines at Beacon Hill.

Wednesday, 6—Sidney vs. George Farmers at Beacon Hill.

Caps Set Willy Mark; A's Get Lumps Again

There were two records set in the Western International Baseball League last night but we'll give you odds you don't know what the other one was.

The big one, of course, was Vancouver's 14th consecutive victory—an 8 to 5 decision over Salem Senators. Salem had set the old mark of 13 in 1946, tied by the Capitanos the following year.

George Nicholas spaced 16 hits—however you space 16 hits in a nine-inning game—for the victory, his sixth in a row since two early-season defeats.

George started off in terrible fashion. Salem cracked out five hits in the first inning, good for four runs. But the Caps chased down this lead and overtook it.

Before boarding the plane for Seattle, Patterson said he had four different deals pending and if only one is completed it will mean a new infielder for the club.

The A's fell into the cellar last night when they bowed to Tacoma Tigers, 8 to 1. The two clubs are meeting in a double bill today.

Oaks Shade Rainiers; Solons Win

Seattle Rainiers' Pacific Coast League lead was shaved to a half-game last night.

Oakland Oaks decided the Rainiers, 10 to 8, in a wild game in which eight pitchers paraded to the mound.

Sacramento Solons pulled up within half a game by knocking off last-place San Francisco Seals, 9 to 6, with Ken Gables pitching his eighth victory.

Hollywood Stars, two games off the pace, defeated San Diego Padres, 7 to 3, behind veteran Jack Salveson, while Max West's home in the 10th inning gave Los Angeles Angels an 8-to-7 triumph over Portland Beavers, the recent leaders who now are tied for fourth place.

Only 19 Putts For 18 Holes

Doug Park Jr. carded a net 60 score at Ardmore last Sunday to win the Officers' Trophy in the eighth annual Royal Arcanum golf tournament.

However, it was another divot who drew all the raves for the tournament. Arcanum Al Appleton evolved a golfers' dream when he toured the regulation 18 holes using only 19 putts. Appleton had single putts on the first 14 holes and took two on the fifteenth when his 20-footer rimmed the cup. He carded a net score of 72 for the round.

TITLE FIGHT TONIGHT Charles 3-1 Favorite

CHICAGO (AP)—Ezzard Charles raps a steadfast 3-1 favorite to retain his heavyweight boxing championship tonight in Chicago Stadium against challenger Joe Maxim, the sleek light-heavy king.

Despite the rarity of two champions battling and the promise of a lively brawl from the start, the turnout may number only 7,000 to 10,000 with a gross gate of less than $100,000.

More than 30 million persons will see and hear the scheduled 15-round title showdown on television and radio (CBS). The bout begins at 9 E.S.T.

A brewery has assured financial success for the International Boxing Club show by paying $100,000 for TV rights. Charles' share will be 40 per cent of the net receipts and television payment. Maxim will get 20 per cent of both.

Charles, 29, generally is favored to defend successfully his heavyweight crown for the eighth time in 23 months because he has defeated Maxim in three previous meetings: Twice in 10-rounders back in 1942 the Cincinnati Negro outpointed the 28-year-old Cleveland Italian, and he won a split 15-round decision in his home town 27 months ago.

The first two fights should be discounted since both men had barely emerged from the amateur ranks at that time.

The bout in Cincinnati is important for Maxim led the first

King Bids For Crack At Title

TORONTO (CP)—L.H. Arthur King returns to his home city for a battle with Armand Saviole on Monday.

He may get a shot at the world's lightweight title if he wins—but win, lose or draw, he'll likely get the biggest purse of his career.

Promoter Frank Tunney predicts the gate may be as high as $30,000.

King is the Toronto expatriate who wouldn't return to Canada from the United States to defend his Canadian lightweight title and had it taken away.

Whether King will get a crack at the world title, possible now that his Philadelphia stablemate, Ike Williams, no longer wears the laurels, depends immediately on Saviole.

But the Montrealer, who has stopped both Toronto lightweight leaders, Solly Cantor and Allan McFater, is a rough playmate.

Pete Audette, Saviole's trainer, has announced that Saviole will lay claim to the Canadian lightweight crown if he beats King.

Since heading for Philadelphia, Frank Palermo, King has had 31 bouts with only two losses.

Saviole's record is equally impressive. In 52 fights, the Montrealer has dropped only four.

Victoria Minor Baseball Association will hold a general meeting at the British Public Schools Club Thursday night at 8. All delegates are asked to attend.

SINOVIC, CHESO GAIN

TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—Although his willow mark was shaved slightly during the week when he dropped two points to an even 400, Tri-City's Vic-Bucola actually lengthened his Western International League batting lead in the week ended Sunday, May 27.

Figures released Tuesday from the office of Robert B. Abel, league president, disclosed that Buccola held a 27-point margin over his nearest rival, Don Pries, of Victoria, whose average dropped 10 points to .373.

Tied for third were Dick Sinovic, of Vancouver, and Butch Moran, of Tacoma, at .364. Both men climbed substantially during the week. Sinovic, gaining 19 points with a 13-for-30 week, and Moran picking up eight points with 14 for 36.

Sinovic increased his league-leading runs-batted-in total from 29 to 37, but the most spectacular rise in that department was made by Reno Chesno, another Vancouver stalwart, who propelled 16 mates across for the runner-up aggregate of 36. In third place was Spokane's Ken Richardson with 32, up nine from a week ago.

Averages of the 12 top leaders follow:

City Meet In Second Round

Eight golfers are left in the championship flight of the ladies' city championship tournament after yesterday's round.

The match play at Colwood eliminated half the starting field of 16, creating a championship flight.

Results of the first round of match play follow:

Mrs. J. H. Todd defeated Mrs. G. E. Verley, 4 and 4.

Mrs. H. J. McIntyre defeated Miss Margaret Mahoney, 2 and 1.

Mrs. H. G. McNamee defeated Mrs. W. H. L. Brown, 3 and 1.

Miss P. E. Payne defeated Mrs. E. H. L. Brown, 3 and 1.

Mrs. E. Matson defeated Miss Mildred Mahoney, 9 and 8.

Mrs. W. Erickson defeated Mrs. Patterson, 3 and 1.

Miss M. Todd defeated Mrs. T. G. Harris, 5 and 3.

Mrs. G. R. Harris defeated Mrs. R. H. Anderson, 9 and 7.

VIC HIGH STRONG King Ed Track Team Favorites

Johnny Johnson, Oak Bay's track and soccer star, will carry the hopes of all five Victoria high schools when he crouches on the starting blocks in the 100-yard dash at Victoria High School's cinder track next Saturday. The dark-haired sprinting flash is the outstanding local entry in the classic event and will have no competition from Oak Bay's traditional rival, Vic High.

The Cranmore Road School will be saddled with the load in one other event, the high jump, where inter-high champion Frank Lewis will also be without competition from Vic High.

In every one of the other 17 events in the B.C. high schools championships the purple and gold of Fernwood Road will be conspicuous among the colors of nearly 30 other schools from all parts of the province.

ROOTERS READY

Capital City high schools, already noted for their pep squads of boys and girls colorfully arrayed and powerfully voiced, will outfit themselves this week-end.

Cheer leaders, singly and in groups, will lead massed sections of the stands in rooting for their favorite performers.

Biggest bogy for the student rooters will be the contending from King Edward High School, Vancouver, which will include the eight first-place and two second-place winners in the recent Greater Vancouver inter-high meet. King Ed, an over-powering choice on their recent record in Mainland meets, will have a star-studded team.

THEY'RE WRESTLERS NOW Baer, Carnera Coming

Primo Carnera, "the Alp that walks like a man," and the clowning one-time heavyweight boxing champion of the world Max Baer may be seen in action here soon if the plans of wrestling-eyre, wrestling entrepreneur Rocky Brooks materialize.

The redoubtable Rocky is signing the cream of the heavyweight grunts and groan crop for a series of weekly shows starting at the Memorial Arena Friday, June 8.

Baer and Carnera are among the lesser lights in a galaxy which includes Earl McCready, Sandor Szabo, "Mr. America" Standlee and the famous Dusek brothers.

Brooks hopes to announce his first card later in the week and it will probably include the Duseks.

The impressario of the mat game found a ready reception here for a series of light-heavy bouts staged at the Sirocco Club early this spring, and has been encouraged to bring the Pacific coast's top-light wrestlers to the capital city.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

James Seggie, president of the Pacific Coast Soccer League, recently returned from a trip to his native Scotland was a visitor in town at the week-end. While in the Old Country Seggie was fortunate enough to see the Scottish Cup final and the International match between Scotland and England at Wembley.

"Don't let anyone tell you that Scotland was lucky to beat England... the Scots were the better team from the start," says Jim.

Seggie also disclosed the fact that the English F.A. team now touring Australia will play one match in Vancouver in July... Visits from a Swedish team and Fulham round out what Seggie described as "a big summer season for soccer in Vancouver." He would make no predictions about the future of the Coast League though indicating the policy of extending the league was not entirely in favor.

"With only a limited amount of soccer talent in the district and to divide what there is between too many teams would lower the quality of soccer," he said. SUPPORT THE TIMES-ANGLERS SOLARIUM DERBY.

Inter-High school mile champion Don Burgess figures to break the provincial mile mark this week-end, win or lose... "At least British Empire Games coach Bruce Mumber says I can do it," says Don... "I have to do the running, Bruce will take care of the worrying." Don's best time is 4:36, four seconds better than the existing mark...

Bob'll Be A Bride Yet

Wonder what Bob Fleming feels like now... Two seconds in two years and both in extra-hole matches... perhaps he'll be recognized one of the star golfers of the province now, though it's pretty tough to convince the Willingdon Cup team selectors that Victoria deserves a better break than it has received in the past.

Our correspondent informs us that the calibre of senior A softball in the city is deteriorating... He points to the fact that there is one weak sister in the league this year and that games which in previous seasons took an hour and 20 minutes to complete this year are averaging one hour and 50 minutes... Also that teams are averaging six errors and pitchers 12 bases on balls a game... "Pitching," he says, "is worse than it's ever been." SUPPORT THE TIMES-ANGLERS SOLARIUM DERBY.

Quote from Ted Menzies, whose Nanaimo Native Sons meet the Shamrocks tonight. "We'll beat the Shamrocks; that's one team we have to beat." The Rocks have only four players—Bill Andrews, that bunch from Westminster and Norm Baker... Ferguson's getting so old he needs snowshoes to get around.

Capitano-boss Bob Brown was trying to trade third baseman Jim Robinson to the A's for a pitcher last week... the deal might have been completed if Yakima manager Bill Brenner hadn't voiced his opinion... Speaking of player help, Portland still owes Spokane a ballplayer and Reg Patterson feels that the Indians will get the first Beaver cut loose...

For Your Leisure Moments

From the light reading department... True Magazine has a good yarn on the story behind the Happy Chandler issue, also a life story of Sugar Ray Robinson... the current issue of Sport reports in an article "Let's Stop Babying Our Ballplayers" that the whole game has grown too soft. SUPPORT THE TIMES-ANGLERS SOLARIUM DERBY.

Dick Barrett's strategy Monday in walking the bases loaded was hard to understand... The situation was thus: a runner on third, one out and the score tied 4 to 4 in the top of the 10th... One walk would have sufficed to put the double play setup on the sacks, especially when the second walk put another runner in position to score, which he did... and more especially when the infield still laid back with the bases loaded... one would think a possible play at the plate would have been the strategy then... As things turned out it mattered little... and think how Barrett must have felt when he received the Bronx cheer from the grandstand managers... Billy Mills, the comedian, drew the applause...

Arnold John, 2938 Foul Bay Road, is the latest to join the "29" Club of cribbage... in a recent game with friends, Arnold was dealt the Jack of clubs and three fives... the five of clubs turned up. SUPPORT THE TIMES-ANGLERS SOLARIUM DERBY.

There's one thing about the Shamrocks this year... everybody is getting a chance to make the club... "Inter regular" to be dropped is Norm Coates... then there's the unanswered question: "Who actually holds the Intercity League franchise for Victoria?"

Behind The Powers Case

We wonder what the Intercity Lacrosse League commission will do about the request of club representatives to "lure" Eddie Powers back into the refereeing fold... Delegates also requested the commission to rehire publicity men Charles Defieux and Don McLean... McLean told the commission what they could do with the job... It seems the whole trouble started when the tub-thumpers tried to arrange transportation for the Vancouver press to attend the season's opener at Victoria... there were so many commissioners coming over that the scribes had to make connections as best they could...

Re the Eddie Powers case, it's rumored that one of the two commissioners who agreed to the original deal with Powers, backed down on his commitment... The other commissioner stuck to his guns and almost resigned his position over the about-face... names given upon request.

Paul Richards, who kept K Chorlton away from the Athletics last year, is already being called the miracle manager of the year in the majors... Chorlton ends up at Tacoma... The A's didn't even get a smell. SUPPORT THE TIMES-ANGLERS SOLARIUM DERBY.

MISSES PERFECT GAME

Bob Throws One Slider Too Many—That's All

A mighty home-run blast by Vic Wertz, the only hit, yesterday cost Bob Lemon an opportunity to join the six pitching immortals who have hurled perfect no-hit, no-run major-league games.

In twirling a brilliant 2 to 1 victory over Detroit in the day's lone contest preceding today's holiday doubleheaders, the ace Cleveland right-hander yielded a four-bagger to Wertz in the eighth inning.

Big Vic was the only Tiger base-runner. Lemon did not walk or hit a batter. The Indians made no errors behind him.

Until Wertz came to bat, Lemon mowed down 21 consecutive batters. He threw a strike past the Tiger slugger, first to face him in the eighth. The next pitch landed in the upper right field stands.

"It was a slider," Lemon groaned after the game. "It wasn't high, it wasn't low. It was just right—for him."

Had Lemon been able to get past Wertz, he would have become the first pitcher to hurl a perfect game in 29 years. The last such spotless performance was turned in by Charley Robertson, who whipped, of all people, the Tigers, 2 to 0, April 30, 1922.

Other perfect pitchers were John Richmond, Worcester, 1880; John Montgomery Ward, Providence, 1890; Cy Young, Boston, Red Sox, 1904; Addie Joss, Cleveland, 1907, and Ernie Shore, Red Sox, 1917.

Although hundreds have come within one safety of pitching a hitless game, only nine have lost their no-hitter by tossing a home-run ball.

Lemon's one-hitter was the

Fulla Key Man In Sons' Visit Here

If tonight's Shamrocks-Native Sons intercity lacrosse feature at the Memorial Arena follows the script, fulsome Fred Fulla will be cited for one of the more dramatic performances.

The Nanaimo goal keeper deserves top billing for the role he has taken in pushing the new league entry into fourth place this early in the season. Almost unbeatable in the two wins Nanaimo boasts, he has been tough in every game and can be counted on to make Arnold Ferguson's squad earn its way into sole possession of top place tonight.

Word from Nanaimo is that the up-landers will floor practically the same squad that met the Irish in the first game of the season, and that Lloyd Steele will do a final job of master-minding from the bench.

Nanaimo needs a win to keep ahead of Indians, who hoisted themselves up beside the Sons with a 9 to 7 victory over Vancouver Combines at Kerrisdale last night.

With crooner Bing Crosby among the 1,400 customers, Bo Bradford provided the spark as Indians—although crippled by injuries—upset the league co-leaders.

He scored two goals, including the clinching ninth goal, and was carried off the floor twice after being felled by numerous Combine checkers.

Indians never once trailed the sloppily-passing Combines, who barely edged the Braves 14 to 13 in overtime in their first meeting.

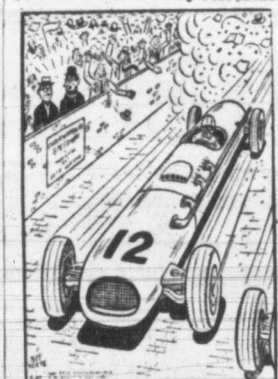

With Bradford, and a much-improved Larry Crema and Jack Byford the offensive beacons, Indians held quarter leads of 2 to 1, 5 to 3 and 7 to 5.

Vancouver, saved from a disastrous loss by the addition of Dave Redline, staged a victory-bent fourth quarter rally, but Redline couldn't do it all by himself.

The Combines loss adds up to a big chance for the Shamrocks. If they can take Nanaimo

PARNELL UPSET BY FOOT IN COAST CHAMPIONSHIP

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Favored Bill Parnell of Vancouver was beaten in the mile event last night by Jim Newcomb of the University of Southern California as the Trojans won their 11th consecutive Pacific Coast Conference track and field meet.

Newcomb ran the distance in four minutes and 10.7 seconds. Parnell, running for Washington State, was second, and Art Garcia of U.S.C. third.

Parnell took the early lead. He held it until midway in the third lap, when Garcia took over. Garcia didn't last long. Parnell passed him going into the gun lap, then Newcomb passed them both going into the final 220 yards.

Parnell came abreast for a few strides but Newcomb refused to fold. For a few seconds, it looked like it might be a dead heat. Newcomb had the final kick and won by a mere foot.

LOBS AND VOLLEYS

By DICK PRAUL

More news that tennis is in for a grand upswing throughout the Greater Victoria area this year came today from Camosun Club heads.

The Camosun club, which has taken over the old Kingston club site, has wound up a two-year project of clearing the weed-grown grounds and building three new clay courts. It has taken two years to do the job, but now that it is virtually finished, club leaders can be well proud of their accomplishment.

The club covers the James Bay district. More members can be absorbed into the club, it is pointed out, as it is planned to build three more clay courts eventually.

Members are using the old clubhouse and are talking of having a new one before many more years.

Together with Hillcrest Club, of Esquimalt, Camosun is hoping to revive the Victoria Clay Courts championship. Tourney cups are still available.

Hillcrest and Camosun have already begun their monthly series of matches. Hillcrest won the first, 7-5, and the second was a tie, 6-6.

Plans for the B.C. Electric Club tourney will be under discussion tonight at a meeting of the executive group at 8 at the Bowker Avenue clubhouse.

The club's three hard courts are in operation and tennis instruction for aid of beginners is underway with Miss Jean Baillie as teacher. Miss Baillie, a physical training instructor at St. Margaret's, was runner-up last year in the club's women's singles event.

There was a good turnout Monday evening and another large group is expected Thursday evening during the instruction period from 6:30 to 7:30. The class will be held every Monday and Thursday evening until the end of June.

THROWS ONE-HITTER

Furmston Puts Aces In Lead

Butler's Aces moved into a tie for first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League last night when they blanked Forest Products 9 to 0 behind the one-hit hurling of John Furmston. Furmston showed his best form of the season as he pitched no-hit ball for six and a third innings. The only hit given up by big John was a clean single by Gus Hilton in the seventh.

Furmston was bearing down on every pitch and whiffed a total of 16 batters, high for the season. Forest Products batters managed to get only three balls out of the infield including Hilton's hit. He gave up nine walks. Roy Logie was the only Forest Product batter to reach third.

The game also marked the first time this season that a player has been thrown out of a contest. Barry Jackson, starting hurler for the mtlmen, was given the heave-ho in the first inning for using abusive language.

Wally Smith, manager of the losers, also got bounced in the fifth inning, for arguing over a called strike.

Jackson was replaced by Bud Ross after the Aces had scored two runs on a hard ground smash by John Furmston that went through Dorohoy's legs. Ross came in to pitch to Ronnie Benn with three balls on the batter and finally walked him. He retired the side without any further scoring, and he and Furmston matched pitch for pitch until Ray Crabbe dropped in the first hit of the game in the fourth inning.

Crabbe's single was played by Ireland in right field and it rolled for a three-base error that brought in three runs to give the Aces a 5 to 0 lead.

FURMSTON SCORES PAIR

The Aces scored two more runs in the sixth when Furmston singled off Ross' right leg. There is no Senior A action

Short score follows: R. H. E. B.C. Forest Products... 0 1 7 Butler Bros. Aces... 9 7 2 Jackson, Ross (1) and M. Smith: Furmston and R. Benn.

ALLIED BOMBS, 'ILL WIND' BLEW GOOD FOR BELGIANS

LIEGE, Belgium (CP)—Being bombed out of their homes during the Allied attack on Belgium may have been the luckiest thing that ever happened to three Liege working-class families. With money given them as war-damage compensation, they bought land and planned new homes.

Laborers working on the foundations this week discovered an extensive coal seam which experts say can be worked profitably as a strip mine.

Big Demand For Report On Canada's Art, Science

600-Page Volume Giving Conclusions Of Massey Commission Probable 'Best Seller'

OTTAWA (CP)—The King's Printer, whose publications rarely cause excitement in the book stalls, thinks he's got one that may be as "hot" as the Royal Commission report on the spy trials of 1946.

This expected "best-seller" is the 600-page Massey Arts Commission report, a chronicle of Canada's cultural past with a clue to the possible shape of Canada's cultural future.

The report, the fruit of a two-year inquiry, goes on sale to the Public Friday, the day it is presented to Prime Minister St. Laurent and tabled in the Commons.

It is being eagerly awaited, said the King's Printer, 57-year-old Edmond Cloutier, by scores of scientists, educationists, scholars, artists and others who participated in the inquiry.

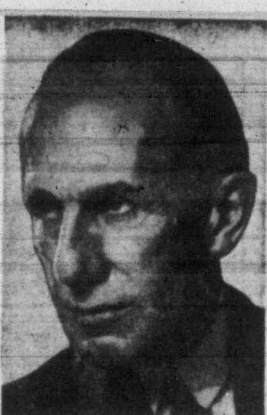

Launched in 1949, the inquiry—studying how the government may best aid national unity through Canadian culture—heard from 500 organizations and 1,200 individuals.

Even commercial book-sellers are showing an interest. Anticipating a "brisk" sale, Mr. Cloutier has printed 9,000 first-edition copies—6,000 in English and 3,000 in French. The document will go on sale at cost—$3.50—and may be ordered through bookstores or direct from the government printer.

"We've got lots of advance orders," said Mr. Cloutier. "They've been coming in for months. If the first edition is sold, we'll start another one immediately."

Here are some of the commission's likely recommendations:

1. Establishment of a national council, free of politics, to co-ordinate all of the government's aid to Canadian cultural development.
2. Granting to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation permanent control over television policy in Canada.
3. Federal aid to universities.
4. Federal aid to construct a national library, archives, art gallery and other buildings in the capital.

Smokers Turn To 'Rollings' For Economy

More Victorians than ever before are rolling their own cigarettes today. Result of inquiry among tobaccoists is that the sale of papers (now free of excise tax) and rolling machines has increased by three or four times since the budget proposals increased the price of tobacco.

"We cannot give any definite figures yet," said one wholesaler. "But the trend is definitely towards the hand-rolled cigarette. One reason is that the price of cigarette papers have decreased from 14 to 5 cents."

Another tobaccoist said: "I believe the sales of 'tailor-made' have gone down about 10 per cent since the price was raised to 41 cents."

Cigarette smokers are using the hand-rolled to economize on their budgets. It is estimated that a tin of tobacco costing $1.60 and two packets of papers costing 10 cents will make about 200 cigarettes, for a total outlay, plus sales tax, of $1.75. The price of 200 tailor-made is $4.10, plus 12 cents sales tax.

Catholic Students Of Maillardville To Receive Aid

MONTREAL (CP)—The state executive of the Knights of Columbus of Quebec Province have decided to launch a drive for funds for Roman Catholics in Maillardville, B.C., to maintain their own school.

Judge T. A. Fontaine, state deputy, said there is a "dire need" for funds in the British Columbia community. Officers immediately granted $100 towards the campaign.

B.C. Again Host To Jap Delegation

VANCOUVER, May 29 (CP).—The first delegation of Japanese citizens to enter Canada since the Second World War landed at Vancouver's International airport on Tuesday.

The six-member party is the advance group of 35 delegates coming from Japan for the moral rearmament world assembly at Mackinac Island, Mich., next month. The others will arrive May 31.

Dr. T. Sohm, of Tokyo, spokesman for the party, said moral rearmament has become the backbone of democracy in Japan.

135 Naval Cadets From Canada Visiting Britain

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP)—Two Canadian frigates and a destroyer arrived today from Halifax with 135 naval cadets on their first major training cruise.

The destroyer Crescent and the frigates La Hulloise and Swansea will remain in Portsmouth harbor until Tuesday while the cadets are taken on a tour of the port's shore establishments.

They will be escorted through the navigation, torpedo, naval gunnery and other schools by Lt.-Cmdr. W. W. MacColl, of Halifax. Later they will be shown over Nelson's flagship Victory, followed by a round of sight-seeing and entertainment.

Between instructional classes, cadets, drawn mainly from the universities of McGill and Dalhousie, will be given time off to

Dear Sun: Keep Shinin' 'Til Strawberries Ripen!

By PENNY SAVER

"That funny old sun ain't got nothin' to do, but roll around heaven all day," according to a popular song, and according to local dealers that goes double for the strawberry crop. Seems all the luscious little fruit needs is a heap of sun lovin' and warmth and you'll have yourself a basket of berries for as little as 40 pennies by the end of the week.

Looking over the many baskets available in the city this morning, the average price was hitting around 49 pennies. If that sun doesn't offer his two-bits worth of beams the berries won't go much lower than 43 or 45 pennies.

Get out the rolling pin ma, no, not for pop this time, but to whip up a fluffy pastry for a gooseberry filling.

The succulent, green berry is taggin' around a price of 35 pennies, a pound.

Another surprise visitor, and a joy to behold, were the gobs of deep red cherries from California. While still trying to swallow the 75 cents a pound, price in one store, I walked into another shop, and begorra, the darn things were down five pennies!

Oranges, by the bucketful these days, and prices right down, to please the shopper. For the little Valencia, 3 dozen for 59 pennies, and their larger sisters, 10 pennies, less a dozen.

By Friday or Saturday, water-melon should be greeting all, who come to see, at 13 pennies a pound... Mexican tube tomatoes are also expected and with them a price tag of 19 cents.

While you're at it, Mom, you can cart the ice cream out of the cooler and cut open that 19 cents a pound cantaloupe.

Green beans were down three pennies this morning, at 30 cents a pound, spinach 2 pounds for 23 cents, asparagus, 29 pennies, and leaf lettuce 17 cents a head. Great leafy cabbages are gracing a number of counters and weighing in at about 15 cents each... hot-house tomatoes, beauties, my dears, 32 pennies a pound... pink grapefruit, in good supply, 3 for 29 cents... and eggplant, 30 cents a pound.

New beets in tasty bunches at 20 cents... white turnips, a pound for 9 pennies... green peppers, 39 cents a pound and new peas, a pound for 25 cents.

MARY HAWORTH

After Multiple Surgery, Woman Depressed; Obsessed With Thoughts Of Doctor

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A few weeks ago I read in your column about the girl who thinks of a movie star and can't get him out of her mind. I have much the same problem, except that I know the man slightly, as he is my doctor. The problem seems silly, I grant; but I don't know how to deal with it.

I am 28, have been married eight years, and have a daughter five years old. Several weeks ago I underwent a series of operations, since when I haven't been able to get back into the swing of normal living. I find myself thinking all day long about the doctor; and I am terribly worried, as I never before felt this way about anybody. I am very unhappy and depressed.

C. C.

SIGNIFIES WISH FOR PROTECTION

Dear C. C.: Your problem consists of a mixture of worries, and your preoccupation with thoughts of the doctor is somewhat akin to a sick child's longing for a mother's protective presence. During the series of operations—or while you are preparing for and convalescing from them—I suppose the doctor was in attendance, more or less, giving you kindly professional care and encouragement.

You say you've been married eight years; but you make no reference to a husband in the present situation; nor do you speak of any other adult kin or solicited friends, who might be expected to rally around, to help you get back on your feet after a hospital siege. That is, if you'd been having a normal social experience, bulwarmed by substantial devoted relationships before. Thus you may be a widow or a divorcee, and possibly your parents are dead or the family scattered, so that you are precariously alone in trying to mend. Or perhaps you live very much within yourself, as the saying goes; and have a spouse who prefers not to be faced with your introspective anxieties.

As to where to begin, to help yourself, I believe that growth of understanding, concerning the neurotic components of your depression, would bring about much improvement. The Family Service Agency in your city may have psychiatric social workers who could guide you along lines

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The Same Old Greetings Show Lack Of Originality

Once in awhile my mail bag becomes so fascinating and reflects human nature so vividly that I have to give you a glimpse of it.

I have just received a letter from the postal clerk in a fairly small town. He writes: "Please print this needed advice in your column. Our conversation is in a rut. Typical comments when people meet are: 'Hello.' 'How are you?' 'What do you know?' 'It's a nice day, or a rainy day, or a cold day, or a hot day.'"

"Now," continues my postal clerk, "most people must be in a mental rut. This is the type of conversation used by people too lazy to think of anything original. To be interesting people should not play the same record forever. With this type of conversation we are underlining the intelligence of those we know and our own intelligence. It's enough to give one a nervous breakdown."

You know, I am crazy about this letter because it has so much truth in it. Also, it is whimsical. I can just imagine how this nice, alive postal clerk feels. In a small town the post office is a meeting place. The clerk is in a position to realize how dull people can be because he hears these same salutations over and over, and over again, day after day, and year after year, whereas you and I hear them or say them only once or twice a day.

All over the world people are meeting with such usual greetings. In a way these carry good feeling, although they are formal. In Mexico it is: "Como estas?" (How are you?), or "Como se va?" (How do you go or how goes it with you?). However, the usual things we say to one another when meeting, have become stereotyped and without feeling. They have much less real meaning than the nose-rubbing Eskimos.

Sometimes we are too tired or hurried. Often it seems too much trouble to exert ourselves. But there is usually some point of contact, or something we could ask about which would make the person we meet feel that we are truly interested, either in the world or in him. We are lazy and thoughtless in this way.

I can think of all sorts of things we might say if we did not wish to be thoughtful. For instance, we might say: "I see your hair is falling out as fast as ever." Or, "I see you have developed a bulge since I have seen you." Or, "Your bay window is really prospering." If we really wished to give another "food for thought," we might say, naturally and casually, "Do you think the atom bomb will fall tonight?"

I love the Mexican people because they are so whimsical. Many an attractive man will divert you with the salutation: "Yo soy muy Hombre!" (I am very man.)

Anyway, I think it might be a nice hobby to try not to say just the stereotyped thing when meeting old friends or acquaintances. It would be good mental exercise for us and make the day brighter for them.

Happy 'Major Operation' At Jubilee Nurses' Home

Nurses' Home, Royal Jubilee Hospital, has undergone a "major operation" to commemorate the forthcoming 60th anniversary of the nursing school.

Main lounge which has just been redecorated by Junior Auxiliary and Women's Auxiliary, and receiving room and library, decorated by Junior Auxiliary were shown to guests attending presentation tea yesterday.

The affair was held in the lounge, now artistically decorated in pink and grey with the same colors picked up in floral drapes.

Over the immense brick fireplace is a large mirror which reflects the colors of the room.

Green is predominate in the library and yellow and brown combine to make an attractive receiving room.

For the presentation and tea yesterday a lace-covered tea table was centred with a silver bowl of pink and white peonies, bleeding hearts, weigela and tamarisk.

On the three-week trip Mrs. Gummow was accompanied by Mrs. E. Glover, Victoria, provincial director and representative of Provincial Federation of Institutes on the Solarium Board; Mrs. J. H. East and Mrs. A. A. Shaw, provincial president and vice-president.

Next week Mrs. Gummow leaves on her annual visit to Institutes in the Cariboo, northern interior and Peace River districts.

Cleton, Kamloops; Mrs. J. W. Wright, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gowans, and Mr. E. Bradley, all of Vancouver.

Miss Jean W. Gibson, Dr. and Mrs. Kingsley Terry, Mrs. E. A. Lawson, J. Baines Lewis, Bishop and Mrs. H. E. Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Colts, Miss M. Colts, Mrs. Frederick Fisher, Mr. James Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. William Loughhead, Miss Eve Wilson and Mrs. Dorothy Woodward are Victorians who have visited British Columbia House, London, Eng., during the week of May 18.

Guests At Government House Today

Mrs. A. B. Dykman, Portland, right, wife of the president of the Oto-Ophthalmological Society, meeting in Victoria this week, was among guests at a tea hour reception this afternoon, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace entertained in honor of the visiting doctors and their wives. Also present will be, left to right, Mrs. E. W.

Elkington, Victoria; Mrs. C. W. Trexler, Honolulu; Mrs. David Higbee, San Diego, and Mrs. G. Boyden, Portland. When Mrs. Trexler arrived from Hawaii earlier this week, she brought leis of Vanda orchids for wives of executive officers in the society. Victoria Groom Claims His Bride In Wedding Ceremony In Calgary

In Knox United Church, Calgary, Alta., a recent wedding, solemnized by Rev. G. Preston united Shirley Margaret MacKeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. MacKeen of Calgary, and Robert Eldon Doe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Doe, 1639 Oak Bay Avenue.

Fragrant lily of the valley was the floral setting for the bride in her wedding gown designed with slender bodice, and softly gathered pleated skirt, pointed up the full-length skirt. The bodice featured lily-point sleeves and yoke of nylon net edged with lace and pearls. A pearl tiara held her bridal veil of illusion net and she carried a colonial bouquet of blush roses and lily of the valley.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. George E. Eggleston, as matron of honor; Miss Mary Winch, Toronto, and Miss Jean Weir. The senior attendant chose a classic Victorian mode gown of blue brocade nylon organza. Bridesmaids were gowned in heaven-blue nylon marquisette. Best man was Donald E. Anderson, and ushers Richard B. Oidaker and William H. Parsons. The bride's cousin, Miss Caroline Watson, Toronto, was soloist.

The Sun Parlor of the Palliser Hotel was the scene of the reception, where G. N. Irwin, Whitby Ont., proposed the toast.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Doe are on a honeymoon trip in north western United States. For traveling the bride changed into a dressmaker suit of grey-blue gabardine and matching topcoat accessories of skipper blue and French tulle hat with forget-me-not trim. Her corsage: bouquet was of red roses.

On Friday, 300 members of Jubilee Hospital Alumnae will be guests at a reception at Government House during a four-day celebration of the diamond jubilee of the nursing school. Col. R. L. Mitchell and Col. Maurice Turner will be A.D.C.'s.

His Honor will attend a full-dress regimental dinner in the Bay Street Armory on Saturday evening, when the new honorary colonel of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, former Premier John Hart will be honored. Maj. R. W. Phipps will be A.D.C.

On Sunday the Lieutenant-Governor will return to Vancouver to attend the Last Post Fund Memorial Service at Mountain View. A.D.C. in attendance will be Lt.-Col. G. P. Stirrett.

West Vancouver Wedding

St. Francis-in-the-Wood Anglican Church, Caulfield, West Vancouver, was scene of an interesting wedding recently when Betty, daughter of Mrs. George Milburn, and the late Mr. Milburn, formerly of Prince George, became the bride of Mr. Melville Kerr, son of Mrs. C. Kerr, Smithers, B.C. Rev. H. Cutler, Hammond, B.C., officiated at the ceremony, and G. E. Grist, Oak Bay, gave his granddaughter in marriage.

The bride chose Miss Audrey Anderson, Vancouver, for her bridesmaid, and Mr. Jack Milburn was best man. Following the late morning ceremony, a luncheon reception was given at the Jefferson Avenue home of the bride's mother. The hostess was assisted by Victorians, Mrs. F. Kermodie and Miss M. Milburn, aunts of the bride. E. F. Little proposed the toast.

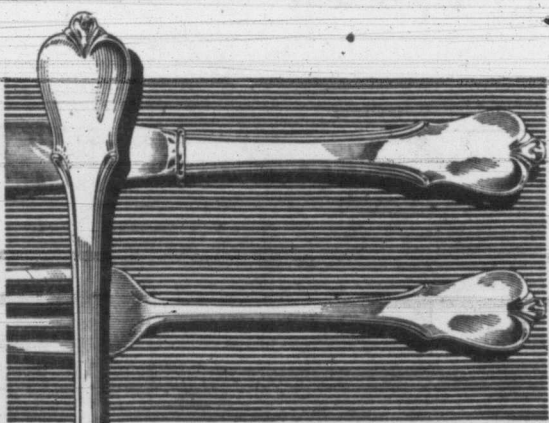

Following a honeymoon trip to the southern United States, the couple will return to this province to make their home at Kamloops, where the groom is a member of the B.C. Forest Service.

Miss Elsie Cartmell, Vincent Avenue, and Miss Helen Richards, Cowper Avenue, left yesterday by plane for the British Isles where they will visit for four months.

A surprise miscellaneous shower was held Monday evening in honor of Miss Vera Ash, June bride-elect, at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. Ash. Mrs. Lorna Farmer and Miss Elsie Scott, who are to be bridesmaids, were hostesses. Guest of honor received pink roses and stephanotis en corsage and Mrs. Ash, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. G. Miss Barefoot Repeats Vows In Cathedral At Winnipeg

A honeymoon trip to the United States and later a home in West Kildonan, near Winnipeg, are plans of newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wedlake, who repeated nuptial vows recently before Rev. J. Hoag in Winnipeg's St. John's Cathedral.

The bride is the former Marguerite Lillian, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Barefoot, 3032 Carol Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Wedlake, West Kildonan.

A braided satin headdress encrusted with seed pearls held the veil of net applied with lovers' knots of satin, edged with embroidery, that misted over the bridal gown of satin and exquisite Chantilly lace. The bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations.

Mr. Barefoot gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's sister, Mrs. Robert Fleming, was matron of honor and Miss Helen Richards, bridesmaid. Best man for his brother was William Wedlake and ushers were Hubert Wedlake, another brother, and Joe Spitzer.

MR. AND MRS. W. N. CHANT

NEW VICTORIANS

by Gwen Cash

A couple of years ago William Neelands Chant, former Minister of Agriculture in the Alberta (Aberdeen) government and his wife, Victoria, millinery designer, bought "Rappahannock" and its lovely grounds at 1595 Rockland.

They wanted to get away from the long Prairie winters and were holidaying at the Coast, trying to make up their minds if they should settle in Vancouver or Victoria, when news came that Mrs. Chant's store in Camrose had burned.

"That was the finishing touch," said Mrs. Chant. "We sold much of our stuff, had the rest shipped, left our son Austin to manage the farm and decided on Victoria."

Camrose, a place of 5,000 population, centre of a prosperous farming community and has five lines of rail going into it. The farm is 1,000 acres of mixed cattle and produce, four miles out of Camrose.

Mr. Chant, a big man, physically and mentally, with a keen sense of humor, said he had only Grade 10 public school education, but has read enormously, especially economics and psychology. He quotes easily and aptly from current and standard works on both. Inclined towards socialism when he first became interested in politics, he is now an individualist and a stalwart of the Social Credit Party.

Mrs. Chant's pet hobby is gardening. She has ample scope for it at "Rappahannock" but she found time to take a course in public speaking last winter and intends to continue next.

Mr. and Mrs. Chant's two daughters have joined their parents in Victoria. One, Mrs. L. Holmes, lives with them on Rockland. The other, Mrs. E. D. McEwen, and her husband have a house on Heywood. The McEwens have two children. Mrs. Holmes, one.

Canvass For Teachers

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Education Association said yesterday it may take a house-to-house canvass to scare up enough teachers to staff grammar schools in the United States.

There is a need for 80,000 teachers in that field, the association said, and only 32,000 available this year from colleges.

OSLO, Norway (Reuters)—Twenty countries have entered for the 1952 Olympic Winter Games in Oslo, the Norwegian Olympic Committee said Tuesday. A final entry of more than 30 countries is expected, with a total of about 1,000 competitors.

Parents Warned Of Over-Indulgence

MONTREAL (CP)—Parents got a verbal spanking Tuesday from Quebec's Minister of Health.

Addressing the opening luncheon of the Canadian Public Health Association convention and the Quebec Society of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine, Dr. J. A. Paquette appealed for continued emphasis on public health education. Then he became a bit indignant.

"People love children but parents go on filling their youngsters with candy and soft drinks and keep them up late, with the excuse that it's good for them to have what they want," he said.

"People have to be told over and over again what they should do to maintain health," he said further. "They don't care about health until their health is threatened."

"We have to hammer home the simple truths: don't eat too much, yourselves too much, get a reasonable amount of sleep," he said.

Questions Value Of Treatment For Deafness

Vitamin A has not, in his opinion, shown any superiority over other treatments available for deafness, Dr. Shirley H. Baron, San Francisco, said today at sessions of Pacific Coast Oto-Ophthalmological Society meeting at the Empress Hotel.

Dr. Baron described his experiments and treatments made with parenteral Vitamin A since June, 1948, and also those made by other researchers throughout the country.

EVIDENCE LACKING

"Much has been written of the possible relationship between vitamin deficiencies and deafness," he said, "but unequivocal, convincing evidence is still wanting."

The low incidence of acquired deafness in service personnel who spent prolonged periods in prison camps, despite other manifestations of vitamin deficiencies, tends to discredit the influence of vitamins on hearing, he said.

"I doubt that Vitamin A produced improvement in any patient by a specific action on any portion of the auditory system," he said following a listing of his treatments.

"It may be that improvement in some was through increased resistance to fatigue, which affects hearing," he said.

Five important papers were read today.

The convention will close at noon Thursday. The morning will be spent in general sessions and motion picture showings on allied subjects.

So Sorry Please—Ad Mistaken—Toothpaste

LONDON (Reuters)—Into the Sherlock Holmes exhibition at 221B Baker Street yesterday walked a visitor from Japan.

He took one look at a Japanese magazine—opened at an articles which, according to a notice in English—told about the Japanese Sherlock Holmes Club. The Oriental fan of the great fiction-story detective protested to exhibition officials:

"You've got the wrong page. That's an advertisement for toothpaste."

Russian Olympic Hope

MOSCOW (AP)—Nina Dumbadze, one of Russia's best prospects for the 1952 Olympics, Tuesday bettered her own world mark for the discus throw when she tossed the platter 175 feet and seven-eighths of an inch. She set the world record of 174 feet 8 1/2 inches August 8, 1948.

Stork Can't Seem To Heal Broderick Crawford's Rift

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Despite the expected stork visit in July, the Broderick Crawfords are miles away from the rumored reconciliation. "A Mexican stand-off" is the way Brod puts it. . . . Virginia Field and Willard Parker signed to co-star in a TV film series tagged "Boss Lady." The series calls for 36 films a year, each budgeted at $18,000, for the next five years. Virginia and Willard plan to marry on Oct. 9.

Hedy Lamarr and an unidentified "mystery man" have been the talk of Acapulco's we-love-a-romance set. . . . William Gargan's wife is on the mend after major surgery. . . . Yvonne de Carlo isn't happy over the snip job done on her last U.I. picture, "Tomahawk." Her big song number was scissored from the picture.

Producer David Diamond will follow up "I Was An American Spy" with "The Bright Side," revolving around camp entertainment staged by service personnel. He'll give 50 per cent of the film's profits to the services. Prediction: Margaret Sheridan is THE gal to watch in the 1951 movie glamour sweepstakes. She makes her film bow in "The Thing."

Studios Seek Entertaining Films To Replace Dullness

limb. As today's hand shows, he knows how to get the most out of his cards—and perhaps a little extra.

When West opened the live of spades Stearns played low from the dummy and East won with the queen. East returned the deuce of diamonds, South put up the king, and West won with the ace. West then cashed the queen of diamonds and led the three of spades.

Stearns correctly decided that the king of spades was in the East hand. Hence he had to put up the ace of spades. After this he needed the rest of the tricks.

How was this to be accomplished? For one thing it was necessary to guess which defender had the queen of hearts. Moreover, it was vital to take the third round of trumps with dummy's three top clubs had been gotten out of the way. This would leave dummy in position to cash the fourth club with all trumps drawn.

Stearns decided that West's shortness in spades indicated some length in hearts. This, as he knew, was not a certainty but was slightly better than an even chance. Hence he decided to play West for the queen of hearts.

After taking dummy's ace of spades he returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led the nine of hearts towards dummy. West naturally played low, not suspecting what South was up to.

Stearns let the nine of hearts ride, and then drew a second round of trump with the ace. Now he could cash the king and queen of clubs. Finally he led a trump to dummy's king in order to discard the jack of spades on the jack of clubs.

'Sword Of Monte Cristo' At Capitol

Rugged George Montgomery is unbeatable, whether defending Paula Corday, woman he loves, or fabled treasure of Monte Cristo. He does both in Edward L. Alperson's production "The Sword of Monte Cristo." Filmed in Supercinecolor and released by Twentieth Century-Fox, swashbuckling epic opens today at Capitol Theatre.

BRITISH MORALISTS ANGRY

Books, Stage Scored

LONDON (AP)—The Public Morality Council complained today that sex and nudity are running wild on the British stage.

It asserted the country also is being flooded with indecent magazines, masquerading as American but in fact printed here.

The council is made up of representatives of all major churches and welfare societies.

It said in its annual report it is determined to bring about "a radical and sorely-needed change in official policy" toward obscene plays and publications.

The report said a "definite deterioration in the character of public entertainment" on the stage is taking place throughout Britain.

"The exploitation of nudity in revues," it said, "has now reached such proportions that it is openly advertised as the chief feature of many of these entertainments."

But the legitimate stage also is getting more and more obsessed with sex, the council said.

"In certain plays we see sexual depravity condoned, and American sailors leering through a telescope at woman taking a shower," it said. "The shower episode is one of the high spots of the American plays 'Mr. Roberts,' based on a novel by the late Thomas Heggen."

In the field of pronographic writing, the council said, there now are on sale here magazines "of a type so harmful and decadent that it is impossible to use words strong enough in condemnation."

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

XCVII

The Superintendent walked to the back wall and pulled a bell rope. Almost immediately the jailer, who might have been waiting at the door, entered the room, and was given his instructions.

For a few moments the two men sat at either end of the desk in silence. The Superintendent did not feel that it was his place to question his visitor any further, and to have discussed the case itself would not have been admissible.

Presently they heard the sound of footsteps returning to the stone flags outside, and the jailer opened the door again. The Superintendent turned to the Lieutenant-Commander with a polite nod. "This is Lieutenant Braid, sir."

Braid saw his superior officer and saluted. The salute was meticulously returned. The young man was looking at Braid intently; it was but the barest moment before he offered an explanation. "My name's Vinson, Lieutenant Braid. I'm to escort you down to the Naval Hospital for a routine medical examination, and to bring you back here again when it has been completed."

"Very good, sir."

"You'll understand that I'm responsible for you between the prison and the hospital?"

Braid was thinking quickly—examining the other man shrewdly. "Yes, sir, I understand."

"Very good, then. We'll make a start."

The Superintendent opened the door and addressed himself to the Lieutenant-Commander. "I may expect Lieutenant Braid back in two hours?"

"That's what I estimate."

There were two more doors to open—then they were outside, in the late afternoon sunshine, with the Lieutenant-Commander on the outside, nearest the edge of the pavement.

Presently the senior officer spoke, and his tone seemed more casual now. "As you probably realized, Mr. Braid, I'm new to this station. I'd like to collect some papers from a room I occupied at the St. Nicholas last night. I'm sure the Medical Officer will stretch a point as to that. And I take it you won't worry?"

Braid moved on, quickening his pace to match that of his escort. No handcuffs were on his wrists. And down at the bottom of the road were ships of many kinds . . . not only the known ships but the unknown ones too—a dozen vessels in which, under certain circumstances, a man

Says Communists Aiming As Mental Enslavement

WINNIPEG (CP) — Communists are aiming at nothing less than enslavement of the mind, knowing well that when the mind is enslaved the body cannot be free, E. K. Williams, Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench of Manitoba, said Tuesday night.

He addressed a banquet of the life insurance advertisers section of the Canadian Life Insurance Association, holding its annual convention here. M. S. Crockford, of Toronto, section chairman, presided.

Communists might attempt to conquer the world by armed force, he said. "Or they might try to conquer the minds of men everywhere by keeping nations in a state of suspense, and by sowing hatred and distrust. They might attempt both methods simultaneously."

Canada, with her Allies, is preparing against actual war, Mr. Justice Williams said. While the people know what preparation

City Hall Pair Had 'Busman's Honeymoon'

Ald. J. D. Hunter and Mrs. Hunter returned this afternoon from a three-week wedding trip and "busman's holiday" to Seattle, Portland and San Francisco.

High point of the trip was an afternoon spent in the San Francisco city council chamber where they saw the board of supervisors—similar to Victoria's council without the mayor—trying to trim a $161,000,000 budget to $81,000,000.

Dr. Hunter and his wife, former Ald. Hilda Baxter, did not wait to find out if the board was successful.

"They are very democratic," Dr. Hunter said. "There is a public address system there for the public, and anyone can get up and comment on the matter in question. I'd hate to see it here."

The San Francisco council spends as much if not more time on little things as we do in Victoria," Dr. Hunter said.
